Guiding Principles

Guiding Principles

- We welcome different perspectives because it drives conversation.
- We understand people have different levels of readiness and that supports learning through the sharing of successes, challenges, and ideas.
- We acknowledge those we serve and agencies we work in are different, but those differences allow us to focus decision-making on what works best for the families and the workforce supporting them.

Our Values

- Creating a safe space for learning together
- Peer-to-peer support
- Enhancing service through practice
- Responsive supports adapted to context/needs
